Agnes is a British singer/songwriter from Surrey, UK. She is an experienced performer of some pedigree who studied her craft at the London music school in Hackney, North London.

Her first music steps began much earlier, however. Indeed, when she was only six years old, she started singing in her local choir and learnt to play the violin.

A very experienced performer, Agnes Jones has entertained audiences across a wide variety of prestigious venues including, hotels, clubs, pubs and festivals. She also has the unique ability to sing fluently in three different languages and currently holds both a British and EU passport.

Agnes wrote her first composition four years ago and now currently has eight beautiful, haunting and hypnotic songs which she is releasing and self-promoting gradually along with some stunningly shot videos.

Surrey songstress Agnes Jones released her debut single entitled 'Taken' on 15/05/20.

This beautifully evocative ballad is a personal tribute and dedication to her father who passed away. In her own words 'His courage, love and total belief in my talent has made me the person I am today, and I made a promise to him that I would continue to sing with him always in my hear With this fantastic new single 'Taken' Agnes is certainly keeping her promise.

'Taken' the official music video is available on Youtube, and available to buy on all the major stores - Spotify, Amazon, Google Play, Deezer

BORN TO BE

LOVED

Agnes Jones released her second self-written single 'Born to be loved' on 01/0/20. The song is simply about ...'being in love'. The video itself was shot to the stunning backdrop of the Peak district in northern England and around parts of Scotland.

The filming of it wasn't without its usual mix of hiccups and problems. The Sottish wintery weather was cold and wet, and Agnes even managed to twist her ankle at one point. She was also stung by a bee, had her dress chewed by a local cow and lost her lunchbox on the day of filming in the middle of nowhere! All this for her love of music and being at one with nature.

However, all this hardship was all tempered a little by her love of Whisky and the close proximity of one or two reputable distilleries!

The 'Born to be loved' video is available now on you tube and the track itself, is available to buy from all major media platforms.
